Michael Hollerich is a financial services leader who has worked with a wide range of companies during periods of evolving economic and regulatory environments. Michael knows (and indeed has successfully executed) the strategies needed to navigate any range of circumstances that threaten a company's ability to grow, regulatory reputation and operational effectiveness.

Michael is currently offering consulting services to a Fortune 500 company involved in banking, investment and insurance offerings through his firm, Hollerich Consulting LLC. He is also exploring permanent leadership roles. Michael's 20+ years of leadership experience include:

- Working directly with virtually every state and federal regulator in the U.S., Canada and EU
- Designing and implementing effective risk and compliance programs
- Successfully overseeing large scale federal examinations and remediation projects, and facilitating hundreds of state examinations
- Managing large-scale technology and transformation projects at most of the largest national and international banks operating in the U.S.
- Overseeing the secondary marketing and hedge accounting activities of both a large national bank and a GSE

Most recently, and during a period of intense regulatory scrutiny, Michael served as Chief Compliance Officer for a large financial services holding company. As CCO, he guided the company through settlement negotiations with state and federal regulators, through to repairing the regulatory relationships and securing regulatory approvals for a major growth initiative. He has cultivated strong relationships and a positive reputation with state banking commissioners and federal agency leadership through in-person, proactive and transparent communications.

Michael is considered a thought leader in the operations, risk and compliance disciplines and has written several articles in the financial services press on these topics. He is a regular speaker and panelist at industry events. He holds a B.A. in History, with a concentration in Economics from Knox College, and also graduated from the Wharton Business School / Stonier Graduate School of Banking executive program.

Michael is open to opportunities in the Chicago, Dallas and Los Angeles markets, but will also consider other markets for the right opportunity and challenge.
